HOPE FOR THE CZAR.

A Slight Improvement in the Monarch's Condition.

A MIRACLE WORKER'S CONFIDENCE.

"Holy John of Cronstadt" Declares That the Lord Is Working a Miracle and That the Stricken Ruler Will Recover—The Royal Marriage.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 30.—The official bulletin issued last night from Livadia says that the czar took little nourishment yesterday. He appeared weaker. He coughed more, bringing up phlegm mixed with blood. The cough, which results from chronic catarrh, has become worse and impedes his majesty's breathing.

It is now known here that the marriage of the czarowitz and Princess Alix did not take place yesterday as reported. What gave rise to the rumor was the arrival of the metropolitan of St. Petersburg at Livadia to annoint Princess Alix in advance of her wedding. It is now stated on "good authority" that the marriage will not occur at Livadia. The actual marriage cannot occur without an elaborate contract between Russia and Hesse, which has not even been drafted yet.

An analysis of the fluid drawn from the limbs of the czar has had a reassuring result, giving hope that the process of absorption may soon begin. Should the improvement in his majesty's condition continue the marriage of the czarowitz and Princess Alix may be further postponed in order that the shadows of illness shall not fall on the union.

Father Ivan (Holy John of Cronstadt), the miracle worker, who, it was said recently, had been summoned to pray for the czar, telegraphed to his wife four days ago, saying: "God is surely working a miracle. The czar will recover."

A Fiend's Confession.

SPARA, Wis., Oct. 30.—Samuel S. Buxton has confessed the murder of Mary A. Jones, a maiden lady, at her home a few miles from this city, on the 21st inst. Three years ago Buxton, by a series of obscene letters purporting to come from a witch and directed to Miss Jones, hypnotised her and caused her ruin. The intimacy was conducted to the day of her death. By the same system of deceit the infatuated woman consented to be strung up by the neck in the belief that it would cause the death of Buxton's wife. The second time the experiment was tried Buxton pushed the chair on which the foolish woman stood from under her, and she swung into eternity. Buxton took what money there was in the house and left for his home. His motive for committing the murder was that he was tired of the woman. Buxton was sentenced to the state prison for life.

Germany's Political Changes.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—It is understood that the emperor has accepted the new chancellor's view that the appointment of a reactionary protestant, like Count Zu Eulenberg as governor of Alsace-Lorraine, would create bad feeling in that province. His majesty has summoned Prince Hohenlohe-Langenburg, head of the Nauenstein line of the Hohenlohes, to Potsdam as a possible governor of the province. His majesty's desire to appoint Count Zu Eulenberg to the highest post next to the chancellorship, with a salary $5,000 higher than the chancellor receives, as compensation for the slights cast upon him in the Caprivi press, is a further instance of the intrusion of imperial feeling into the government of the country which is little calculated to enlist popular approval.

Cranks at the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—"Professor" C. J. Walters, the crank who was known in Atlantic City, N. J., as the "King of the Beach," and who left there some days ago for this city to see the president, arrived here and was taken in charge by the police. Richard Rosere, another alleged crank, who says he came here from the Pacific coast, was found on his way to the White House and arrested. Both men are in the hands of the sanitary officer, and if deemed prudent they will be sent back where they belong.

Murdered by a Pig Thief.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Oct. 30.—The body of Lew Manuel, a prosperous colored farmer, was found at Tamo, Ark., near his hog pen, with his skull filled with shot and crushed with a heavy blunt weapon. The remains were in a terribly mutilated condition, large portions having been eaten by hogs. It is supposed that he caught some one stealing his hogs, and that the thief killed him.

Decided Against Tillman.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The attorney general rendered an opinion in the South Carolina dispensary case presented by Governor Tillman, in which he sustains the opinion of the treasury department, holding that the state has no authority in law to enter government bonded warehouses for the purpose of seizing whisky declared by the state law to be subject to confiscation.

STRANGLERS IN DENVER.

Two Inmates of a Disorderly House Choked to Death.

DENVER, Oct. 30.—The inmates of a disorderly house on Market street are in a state bordering on panic in consequence of the belief that they are in danger at the hands of a supposed strangler. On Sept. 8 Lena Tapper was found choked to death in bed, and the murder remains a mystery, although Richard Demady, with whom she lived, was arrested and is now under bonds awaiting action in his case. On Sunday Marie Cantassoit was found dead in her bed, and appearances indicated that she had been choked to death. Richard Demady, Charles Scholer and John Callahan have been arrested. Demady recently wrote Marie asking her to live with him and she refused. She had lived with Scholer until a week ago. Callahan claimed last week to have been robbed of $170 in Marie's house, and he was seen in the neighborhood Saturday night.

Antonio Santo Pierro, messenger of the police department, and Emil Taymens were also arrested on suspicion. Both were in the house, according to their statements, when the murder was committed, yet they heard no disturbance. Taymens was employed by the woman as a cook, and he is said to have been very jealous on account of the preference shown by her for Santo Pietro. The latter has been dismissed from the police force. The murdered woman is believed to have had considerable money, and as only twenty-five cents was found in the house after the murder the theory is that robbery was the motive for the crime.

Mr. Porter Was a Defaulter.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Oct. 30.—State Auditor Gore gives out the following sensational piece of news: The auditor of public accounts has concluded an examination of affairs of the Normal Park Loan association, of Chicago, of which the late F. W. Porter was secretary. Mr. Porter having been the auditor of the Rock Island railway. The examination developed the fact that Mr. Porter was a defaulter to the extent of some $23,000. The facts in the case have been suppressed until now owing to a belief on the part of the management of the association that friends and relatives of Mr. Porter would make good to the association the amount of his defalcation. Mr. Porter died suddenly in Cincinnati a year ago.

Murderous Chinese Pirates.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—Chinese papers received by steamer contain accounts of numerous outrages by bandits and pirates in the orient. A band of men made desperate by the loss of crops and homes in the recent overflow of the Liao river have established a reign of terror. This band consists of about 200 armed men. By these raids they have secured several boats with which they carry on operations on the water. During three weeks of the raids of this lawless band twenty men were killed and more than three times that number were wounded by them. Their operations covered a distance of nearly 130 miles along the Liao river.

Reading Reorganization Plan Ratified.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Judge Dallas, in the United States circuit court, yesterday refused to grant Lawyer Nathan Bijur a further hearing on Rice's objection to the Olcott Earle plan for the reorganization of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company. The judge also took occasion to express his disapproval of the length of time that the receivership has been in force. He also dismissed the exception of Henry H. Whitney, of the Fitzgerald committee. This fully and legally ratifies the Olcott-Earle plan.

Indians Fight with Knives.

CALISTOGA, Cal., Oct. 30.—A message from Middletown, Lake county, gives information of a serious fight among the Indians at the Cayote valley ranches. Some of the Sulphur Banks Indians were visiting the Cayote tribe, and celebrated the occasion by getting drunk on wine. They fought with knives, and the result of the fight was the killing of one buck and the probable fatal stabbing of another. Six others, including two squaws, were seriously wounded.

Fall River Strikers Resume Work.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 30.—The big strike of weavers, which was commenced with a four weeks' vacation ten weeks ago, was declared off yesterday and the strikers returned to work this morning. They were defeated by the manufacturers, and they will resume their old places under a reduced scale of wages. For eight weeks some 23,000 operatives were thrown out of work and for the past two weeks about 8,000 people were affected.

Heavy Verdict Against a Railroad.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—In the action of Henry W. Purchase against the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad company for injuries received on Feb. 22, 1893, the jury gave a verdict of $35,000 for the plaintiff. The case was one of a number arising from the collision between the Washington express, which was taking President Harrison to New York, and a way train that had been stopped at South street station.

KNEW CORRUPTION EXISTED.

But Police Commissioner Sheehan Declared He Could Not Suppress It.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Police Commissioner Sheehan was on the stand yesterday, in the Lexow investigation, and numerous and lively were the tilts which he had with Lawyer Goff. The commissioner testified that he had been aware for twenty years that corruption existed, but it was impossible to secure evidence enough to make a complaint or bring charges against officers to the grand jury.

It was shown by Mr. Goff from the rules of the police department that the superintendent was under orders of the commissioners at all times, despite Mr. Sheehan's statements to the contrary. The witness, however, objected to this interpretation of the rules, claiming that it was the duty of the superintendent to suppress disorderly and gambling houses without specific instructions from the commissioners.

"If you thought the superintendent was not doing his duty why did you not bring charges against him?" asked Mr. Goff.

"I had not sufficient knowledge to formulate charges," was the reply.

"I don't see how the commissioner can excuse himself," said Senator Lexow, "for his allowing the superintendent to take no action at all in these matters of which he says he had knowledge, or at least the suspicion that wrong doing was going on."

Regarding pool selling the commissioner said that he was satisfied the sellers paid the police for "protection," but that he could not trace the money. He had heard that Superintendent Byrnes got it, but doubted the truth of this report.

Commissioner Sheehan is again in the witness box today.

AN ALABAMA EPISODE.

Police Chief Killed and Another Fatally Injured in a Street Fight.

YORK, Ala., Oct. 30.—A street fight here resulted in the wounding of two prominent citizens, one fatally, and the killing of the chief of police, J. W. Thompson. On Saturday S. A. Cameron, cotton compress agent, and E. F. Allison, a timber merchant, had a quarrel about a business settlement, and the interference of friends only prevented bloodshed then. Yesterday Allison met Cameron on the street and demanded an apology for certain harsh epithets that he had applied to him during Saturday's difficulty.

Cameron refused to apologize, and drew his pistol. A fight followed, and Chief of Police Thompson ran up, seized Cameron and attempted to disarm him. In the scuffle Cameron's pistol was fired off, two bullets passing through Allison's side and then penetrating Thompson's heart, who fell dead, while Allison is mortally wounded. Cameron was severely hurt by blows on the head. Thompson leaves a large family.

Cook's Brigands Surrounded.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 30.—United States Marshal Crump received a message from Agent Wisdom in which the agent says he has reliable information that Bill Cook and his gang, numbering twenty-one men, are near Tallaha Mission, nine miles northwest of Muskogee. The conductor who brought in the passenger train from that country brings the same information. He says further that the pursuers have captured the horses of the robbers and have them surrounded. Notwithstanding the accounts, officials here believe it to be a ruse of friends of the bandits to attract attention away from other parts.

Hawaii Profits by Irrigation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—The outlook for the Hawaiian sugar crop of 1895 is very flattering. For years this industry has been in a depressed condition, due to successive seasons of drouth. Immense reservoirs for the storage of water have been built in the mountains, where the rainfall is always heavy. From these reservoirs the water is conducted to the plantations across hills and sandy plains by means of wooden or iron aqueducts, in some cases as far as forty miles. The sugar crop of 1895 is estimated at 150,000 tons.

The Excessive Price of Bread.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—In view of the crusade for cheaper bread inaugurated in a number of cities, including Washington, where the price has been reduced from five to four cents per loaf as a result of the crusade, the agricultural department has given out a bulletin on the "cost of bread," taken from the forthcoming report of Professor W. O. Atwater on the nutritive value of foods. It shows that the price of bread and the size of the loaf are practically the same now as when flour cost twice as much.

Held for the Grand Juay.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Charles Harer and Harry Lionel Brown, the young men accused of receiving the stamps stolen from the Bureau of Printing and Engraving in Washington by two clerks named Smith and Longstreet, now in custody, had another examination before Commissioner Shields yesterday. After hearing the testimony the commissioner decided to discharge Harer and to hold Brown for the action of the grand jury.

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from nervousness, weakness of the stomach, dyspepsia and indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which did me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely medicine; a few bottles of it have cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." Warranted the most wonderful stomach and nerve cure ever known. Sold by J. E. Mills, Middletown, N. Y.

STOPPED BY THE POLICE

But Not Until Lavigne Had Practically Defeated Griffin.

A VERY GAME FIGHT THROUGHOUT.

The Men Fought Fifteen Fiercely Contested Rounds, Griffin Gaining the Goodwill of the Sports Present by His Gameness—The Police Roundly Hissed.

CONEY ISLAND, Oct. 30.—What with threatened police interference, a previous postponement and a very light card it was not to be wondered that last night's assemblage at the Seaside Athletic club was in no way representative and extremely meager numerically. The general arrangements were good, and excellent order was maintained. Tim Hurst, the well known baseball umpire, was referee of all the bouts. Proceedings commenced at 9 o'clock with about 3,000 present. "Jo" Gates, of Birmingham, England, versus Jack Madden, of Brooklyn, at 105 pounds, was the first bout called. Madden was awarded the decision at the end of the fifth round.

Then came the bout of the evening. It was between "Kid" Lavigne, of Saginaw, Mich, and Johnny Griffin, of Braintree, Mass., at 134 pounds, fifteen rounds. Lavigne's seconds were Sam Fitzpatrick, Jimmie Carroll, Jim Collins and Billy Lavigne. Those in his opponent's corner were George Reynolds, Bill Crowley and Charley White. The men entered the ring at 10:15.

"Dolly" Lyons, of New York, vs. "Kid" Hogan, of Brooklyn, at 115 pounds, ten rounds, was the next. They had fought twice before, and had one victory each. The police stopped this bout in the second round, and Hogan was declared the winner by the referee.

Lavigne led with the left and adopted the attack. They were both wide, although Lavigne got in a couple on the body. When time was called there was little to record. Griffin did not look well, and handled himself as though away off.

In the second Lavigne did almost all the fighting, being especially effective with the left. He was after his man all over the ring and had a good lead when they faced the third round. In the next two matters got worse for Griffin, but he took his punishment gamely. It was the same story in the fifth and sixth. In the latter both slipped down and Griffin left off with much the worst of it, blowing hard and looking very much distressed.

Entering the seventh round Lavigne was again hard at his man and fought him all over the ring. Griffin's gameness was remarkable, for he was everywhere outgeneraled. He fought very weakly. The eighth saw matters much the same, Griffin's gameness appealing to the sympathies of the audience. He aroused himself a bit in the ninth round, but the thing was becoming monotonous.

In the tenth Griffin improved considerably and got in a few good right handers, being cheered to the echo. The eleventh round gave Griffin's backers another ray of hope, as he freshened wonderfully, but he lost many opportunities and was very tired and weak at the close.

In the twelfth Lavigne began to bleed from the nose and showed visible signs of weakening whilst Griffin made many friends by his game attempts. In the thirteenth round there was some terrific infighting and Lavigne developed some wildness in his leads. They frequently clinched, and once a knockout looked certain, but the gong sounded just in time to save Griffin.

In the fourteenth round of this game fight Lavigne went at it wickedly and downed his man. Griffin was up before the limit expired, but was met with blows that fell like rain. Three times he was all but out, but the gong sent him to his corner amidst a tremendous ovation.

In the last round Lavigne rushed and downed Griffin as soon as the men reached the center. Then the police interfered. Lavigne was declared the winner and the crowd cheered loudly for the fighters, while a few hisses were given for the police inspector.

Smith Versus O'Brien.

BOSTON, Oct. 30. — About 500 sports crowded into the rooms of the Lafayette and Social Athletic club last night to witness the meeting of "Mysterious" Billy Smith and Dick O'Brien. Both men fought hard. The fight was declared a draw by Referee Murphy at the end of the tenth round. O'Brien was the stronger by far, but he had not the punishing power of his adversary.

Decided the Fight a Draw.

TRENTON, Oct. 30.—Harry Dalley, of Australia, a protege of Young Griffo, and Ed Vaughn, of Trenton, the bantamweight champion of New Jersey, fought ten rounds here last night. The referee, Arthur Chambers, decided the match a draw, although Vaughn had clearly the best of it.

Dr. Hand's Diarrhœa Mixture.

"My baby is subject to severe attacks of diarrhœa. During the last sickness Dr. Hand's Diarrhœa Mixture was freely given and an immediate cure resulted. It would have required a dozen visits of a physician as on former occasions. I believe Dr. Hand's Remedies would have saved the life of the child I lost, had they been within my reach at the time of its sickness."—Mrs. F. H. Bennett, 752 New St., Camden, N. J. 25c. WRECKED BY EARTHQUAKE.

Appalling Results of the Seismic Disturbance in the Argentine Republic.

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 30.—From LaRioja comes word that that city was ruined by Saturday night's earthquake. The schools, churches and public edifices are all thrown down. The people are camping out in the neighborhood. Comparatively few were killed, as there was a general rush into the open when the first shock came.

At times the shocks lasted thirty-six seconds. The scene was a horrible one, women shrieking and fainting on every hand as the walls came crushing down. Two Sisters of Mercy were killed, and many more are now entombed beneath the ruins.

The governor fears that the killed and wounded throughout the province must number at lerst 2,000, as many of the outlying towns also suffered greatly.

From San Juan come reports that the shocks continued during the night, though they were less violent in character. Not a house in town is without damage. It is reported that in various parts of the province the ground opened and a geyser of boiling water and mud spouted forth.

Couriers continue to arrive here with news of the damage wrought in the various department and towns. The village of Del Abordon has been completely swallowed up in the huge gaps which opened in the ground.

A dispatch from the government engineer at San Juan states that the people are regaining confidence. The town is desolate, but the people are returning by degrees to their houses. The principal damages were to government buildings. A few churches have had their walls cracked.

The provinces of La Rioja and San Juan were the center of the seismic wave.

For a Big Canadian Railway.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 30.—A large delegation of citizens of Manitoba and the Canadian northwest have returned from a secret railroad mission in Ottawa. While reticent about their mission before going, members of the party admitted today that their object was to secure the approval and aid of the dominion government for the Hudson Bay railroad project. It was admitted that the mission had been successful. The statement was made that sufficient English and Canadian capital had been interested to secure the completion of the line, which will cost $20,000,000. The road will be 700 miles long.

Decided Against Eno.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. — The United States supreme court reversed the decision of the circuit court in the case of John C. Eno, formerly president of the Second National bank of New York, who was convicted of forgery in the New York state courts about ten years ago. Eno raised the point that the state courts were without jurisdiction and that he could not be tried only in the federal courts. This view of the law was upheld by the circuit court, but his contention is upset by the decision of the supreme court, which remanded the case to the state courts.

Murder Mystery Cleared.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 30.—William Penn Bauman, 20 years old, surrendered to the police last night, and confessed that he and George Metzger shot and killed an Arabian peddler named John Mikskier on the 25th of last September. Mike Johns, the companion of the murdered peddler, who was also shot, but not seriously wounded, identified Bauman as one of the murderers. Bauman was committed to jail. Metzger is still at large.

Hogs Fattened on Wheat.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 30.—Official government statistics just compiled show that the low price of wheat has developed the pork packing interests in Washington, and places the number of hogs being fattened on wheat in Whitman county alone at 75,000. Only from eighteen to twenty cents per bushel are realized by the wheat farmers.

Will Not Get on the Official Ballot.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 30.—Deputy Secretary Tilden says the names of a number of Prohibitionists and People's party nominees for state offices will not go on the official ballot through the neglect of the party managers to certify nominations to the state department, as required by the ballot law.

Shot Herself Through the Heart.

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Samuel Maxwell, aged about 28 years, shot herself through the heart yesterday with a breech loading gun. The deed was committed at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wilgus

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was taken down with pneumonia, succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption, and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at McMonagle and Rogers' Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

The Doctors Endorse It.

At a regular meeting of the Genesee County (N. Y.) Medical Society, the physicians of the county passed a vote of thanks for samples of Gilmore's Aromatic Wine, which had been presented to the society, and said that they recognized the remedy as being adapted to a large class of summer diseases. Physicians everywhere recommend this excellent medicine, especially to their lady patients. Sold by all druggists for $1.00 per bottle.

POLITICS IN NEW YORK.

Both Parties Seeking Every Point of Vantage.

THE CONTEST GROWING WARMER.

An Unusual Number of Speakers on Both Sides of the Political Fence Stumping the State—Some of the Wagers on the Result of the Election.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Notwithstanding the quiet appearance of the different political headquarters in this city during most of the day, a great deal of active political work was in progress both there and outside, and there is no doubt that the leaders of all the organizations are fully alive to the fact that only a week remains before the day of election. All still express the utmost confidence in the success of their respective tickets. So far as the city is concerned the Tammany men place great reliance on their thorough organization, and even their opponents admit that the full Tammany vote will be polled. The adherents of the committee of seventy ticket base their firm belief in winning upon the conviction that there will be, regardless of ordinary political methods, an "uprising of people" such as overthrew Tammany rule in 1871.

Men who seldom take an active part in politics are laboring to make converts of personal friends, and there has seldom been a campaign in which there were more private political discussion. Perhaps the most important incident of the day was the attempt of an evening newspaper to implicate Colonel Strong in an old matter involving leanings towards the A. P. A., and his prompt denial of any intentional participation in it.

Among the speakers from other states whose services have been secured for the closing efforts of the Hill Democrats in New York are Chauncey F. Black, the latest Democratic lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, and James Kerr, clerk of the house of representatives. The speaking campaign is to be continued up to Saturday night all over the state, and the number of meetings held in small places up to that day will be beyond precedent in any state campaign of similar duration.

Last evening the Democratic committee gave out a statement which declares that "at the last session of the legislature the Republican majority refused to pass a bill appropriating sufficient money to continue work on the state capitol at Albany, although persistently importuned to do so by hundreds of unemployed workmen, besides various trade and labor organizations of the state," and goes into long details in regard to what is termed the injustice of this action.

It was at state Democratic headquarters that John M. Sheehan, president of the Sheehan club of the Twentieth assembly district, had sent in his resignation from Tammany Hall, and he and the members of his club, 118 in all, have joined the state Democracy organization of the district. P. W. Cremin is chairman. It was also announced that A. J. Reilly, of the same district, has resigned from Tammany Hall, and with twenty other voters had joined the state Democracy organization.

A statement was issued from the state Democracy's headquarters quoting William R. Grace in regard to Colonel Strong's present position in the question of the A. P. A., and secret societies in politics. Mr. Grace says relative to this:

"Colonel Strong assured me that he was inflexibly opposed to the influence of secret societies in politics; that he had no sympathy with those who desire to disfranchise voters, or to prevent the election to office of citizens on account of race or religious belief. I recall also that in a conversation with Colonel Strong in regard to the public charities of New York he told me that he had written a letter to the late constitutional convention opposing an amendment to the constitution which in a very unfair way proposed to deprive Catholic and Hebrew charitable institutions of their appropriations, for the reason that they are under sectarian control."

At a meeting of the Real Estate Exchage Honest Government club last evening resolutions were passed severely arraigning Tammany. President Seth Low, of Columbia, and General Stewart L. Woodford, General Wager Swayne and ex-Secretary Fairchild were among the speakers. A letter from Levi P. Morton was read, in which the Republican nominee for governor declared himself in full sympathy with the aims and purposes of that club. He thought it would be wiser, owing to his candidacy, for him not to become a member of any political organization.

Comparatively little betting on the result of the elections is being done except on the Stock Exchange. There odds of 10 to 8 were given that Morton's plurality for governor will exceed 25,000. F. T. Adams placing $5,000 against $4,000 of E. H. Myer's money. An offer was made by one of the Wormsers to put up $1,000 to $400 on the plain proposition of Morton's election, but there was no taker. A few bets have been placed on the mayoralty issue at $100 to $80 in favor of Strong. As a rule, though, Republican money is held for bets on better [illegible]

OUT FOR HILL.

Frederick R. Coudert Announces His Position.

Mr. Coudert is an ex-president of the Manhattan Club, New York. He has been Mr. Cleveland's friend through thick and thin. He has opposed Senator Hill in more ways than one, yet he sent the following letter to Hon. John Boyd Thacher, and it speaks for itself:

"My Dear Sir—Your favor of yesterday is at hand. I feel no hesitation as to the course that I am bound to pursue in the pending political contest, nor do I hesitate to express the reasons which impel me to vote for the Democratic ticket with Senator Hill at its head.

"Even if I entertained the bitter feelings against Senator Hill that are expressed with such lavish profusion by some of my political and personal friends, I should still give the Democratic ticket my vote. It seems to me that the Democrat who believes in his party is left without a chance. I am not disposed to commit political harikari because I might have selected some other person to carry my flag. We must all be for it or against it. We must make of this a triumphal march or a funeral procession. We can make it either. I prefer the former to the latter.

"I know that a dirge has a pleasant sound to many excellent men of melancholy mood, but they will do well to count the cost in advance. Defeat here is likely to be death, or at least suspended animation for an indefinite period of years. Our adversaries are eager and determined and buoyed up with success. They have seized the occasion of a constitutional amendment to disfranchise us in advance. They lose no advantage that they can gather, even from their own delinquencies in the past, which they smilingly charge to us. Republican silver legislation; Republican waste of public moneys; Republican pension bills, and the like are quietly ignored as factors of the hard times. The tariff reform which the people clamored for two years ago must be charged with everything, by which summary and intelligible way of casting accounts a debtor balance against us is easily found.

"Senator Hill represents in this contest everything that we have fought for in the last ten years. Even if he were personally opposed, in a greater or lesser degree, to what we conceive proper elements in the reformation of the tariff abuses, he still represents the cause of progress, retrenchment and reform. We must abdicate or vote for him. We must write an epitaph on the party that has made so gallant a fight with Mr. Cleveland as its chief and allow the country to drift once more into the old rut of mad protectionism with its natural accompaniments or vote for Mr. Hill. If we are tired of the experiment let us vote for Mr. Morton and be done with it. If not, where shall we go?

"I am satisfied that Senator Hill accepted the nomination with great reluctance. It was a brave act, and I honor him for it. He had everything to lose and nothing to gain by acceptance. He has my earnest wishes for success. Defeat means much more for the party than it does for him. Yours truly,

"F. R. COUDERT.

"New York, October 15, 1894."

David B. Hill and the Workingmen.

Columns could be written of Governor Hill's loyalty to the workingmen's interest in the State in the signing of bills in their interests, at all times willing to consult with them, and he is on record in this State as the best Governor the labor interests ever had. The New York State Workingmen's Assembly held at Rome a convention in 1885 where it reviewed his record for that year and found that he had signed the life and limb bill, mechanics' lien law, bill taking tax of $2 off engineers in New York city, bill making employes preferred creditors in bankrupt concerns, and vetoed none. There upon the convention passed the following:

"Resolved, That Governor David B. Hill be commended to the working people as a well tried servant in our cause and entitled to the thanks of organized labor.

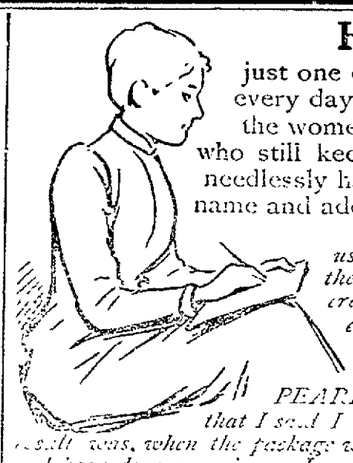
"Resolved that the executive committee be directed to circulate this report throughout the State."

Never before in the history of labor conventions of this state were such resolutions ever passed in favor of any governor. On the 17th day of July, 1888, the legislature having failed to comply with his labor recommendations in his annual message, he convened the legislature in extraordinary session to pass a bill for the proper employment of convicts in the penal institutions of the State. The Republican majority of the Legislature when faced with the situation caucused and decided the words "penal institutions of the State" did not include county penitentiaries. This was not satisfactory to the governor and he sent them another message, pointing out their error and recommended "that a bill be passed for the proper employment of convicts in the State prisons, penitentiaries, reformatories, houses of refuge industrial schools, jails and other institutions."

This terse message compelled the Republican Legislature to act, and a bill was passed abolishing the use of machinery in penal institutions of the State and prohibiting the employment of prison labor further than the supplying of articles needed in State institutions. It is admitted that this bill was not what the workingmen wanted, but it was the best that Hill could force out of the Republican Legislature.

The talk among election ciphers is that in the event of a close vote in the State Mr. Wheeler's third ticket may elect Hill by drawing anti-Platt Republicans away from Morton, and by neutralizing the votes of anti-machine Democrats which would also have gone to swell the Morton total.

If the Republicans assembled at Saratoga had passed the simple declaration submitted to the Committee on Resolutions, which is consonant with the traditions of the party, there would have been no foothold for Apaism anywhere, and no possibility of religious discussion.



Here is a Letter,

just one out of hundreds that are coming in every day. We publish it for the benefit of the women who read about Pearline, but who still keep on washing without it, in that needlessly hard and wearing way. We omit name and address, as requested:

"Now I will tell you how I came to use your PEARLINE. We have taken the 'Ladies' Home Journal' for several years. Three and a half years ago, every time I picked up my 'Journal' to read, the first thing I would see was your advertisement and picture of PEARLINE. I got so tired of looking at it, that I said I would get a package and try it. The result was, when the package was gone I bought another package, and so I have done ever since. I never think of going to wash clothes since, without my PEARLINE. I have recommended it to quite a number of people, who are now using it, just from my recommendation. I have just written this to you to let you know how highly I prize it. I don't want my name and address to go before the public." 424

RALLY ROUND THE FLAG.

Former Opponents of David B. Hill Are Now Advocating His Election.

Every day increases the evidences of Democratic harmony.

E. Ellery Anderson, the most active of the independents who opposed Maynard last year, announces his readiness to speak from the same platform with Senator Hill in support of the regular ticket.

John McMahon, president of the Emigrant Savings bank, a member of the Shepard party in Brooklyn, has tendered his resignation. He says:

"Now that our organization has seen fit to put into the field a third ticket, which, in my judgment, means only an attempt to elect Morton, I must offer my resignation from your honorable association."

Frederick R. Coudert, a leading anti-snapper, and the ablest man among them, has written two letters supporting Senator Hill for Governor and holds himself in readiness to do all in his power for Hill's election.

Nathan Straus, of New York, who went as an anti-snapper delegate to Syracuse and Chicago, is an ardent supporter of Senator Hill for Governor.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General Maxwell, who has charge of the appointment of most of the postmasters in New York State, took pains on his recent trip to Batavia to show his sympathy with the regular Democratic ticket. He advised all New York men with whom he came in contact, to do all in their power for the election of Senator Hill. He was one of the stoutest opponents of Mr. Hill's presidential ambitions, but advocates his election as Governor with equal energy.

John D. Kernan was president of the anti-snap convention at Syracuse in 1892. His words in support of Senator Hill for Governor are emphatic.

William C. Whitney, who did more than one, or any dozen men, to nominate Mr. Cleveland at Chicago, advised the nomination and advocates the election of Senator Hill.

Secretary of War Lamont, who is closer to Mr. Cleveland than any other man, supports Hill.

Mr. Cleveland's attitude is thus represented by his personal friend and political advocate, John Boyd Thacher:

"I believe that Mr. Cleveland will give some individual expression. The President is not in the habit of writing letters indorsing State tickets. All of Mr. Cleveland's friends are heartily supporting the ticket. They are not backward at all, and the outlook is certainly very encouraging."

A Cabinet officer is authority for the statement that Mr. Cleveland will register, and vote for Senator Hill.

William R. Grace, who has opposed Senator Hill in New York politics as long as any other man, says he will take the stump for the regular candidate of the party.

Expressions of opinion from outside the State show that the earnest desire of the national Democracy is for Senator Hill's election. The State Association of Democratic clubs in Pennsylvania adopted formal resolutions calling upon their brethren in this State to unite in support of Senator Hill. The largest Democratic club in New Hampshire recently telegraphed its desire for Senator Hill's election. Vice-President Stevenson has spoken heartily in Hill's favor. Senator Harris, who frequently locked horns with Hill in the Senate, says he would take the stump for Hill if he lived in this State. Senator Faulkner, of West Virginia, testifies that the Democratic Congressional committee is enthusiastic for Hill.

Frederick W. Hinrichs, of Brooklyn, whom the Shepard-ites nominated for Register of Arrears of Kings county, has declined to run on that ticket.

D Cady Herrick, often called the "Cleveland boss" of Albany, is for Hill.

From all parts of the State and all parts of the Union come favorable testimonials from former opponents of Hill and pledges of support in the present campaign.

The "Cleveland press" so-called, is united for Hill. Such papers as the Buffalo Courier and Rochester Herald are in line. The New York World looks with favor on Hill's candidacy. The New York Times, always anti-Hill before, now says nothing against him. The immense meetings throughout the State at which leaders heretofore opposed to Hill speak for him, show that the party is aroused to the importance of Democratic victory. The outlook is bright. The prospect of victory is better than at any time during the past year.

SENATOR HARRIS SPEAKS.

He Says it is the Duty of All Democrats to Give the Nominee Their Best Efforts.

Senator Harris, of Tennessee, president pro tempore of the Senate, is earnestly in favor of the election of Senator Hill, and if he lived in New York he would pull off his coat and stump the State for Hill.

"I hold," says Senator Harris, "that organization is as necessary and as important to a political party as it is to an army in the field. Party differences of opinion may be entertained and pressed until the organization speaks, but when the organized Democracy has rendered its final decree, it appears to me that all men who oppose the common enemy, should fall into line. I have not agreed with Senator Hill upon some questions in the Senate, but if I was a citizen of New York I should give him an earnest and cordial support. He is a Democrat, and in my opinion all Democrats ought to give him their best efforts. When I say as against the common enemy, I mean as against the Republican candidate and any candidate of any Democratic faction. Every Democrat has his opportunity, his day in court, when and where he has the right to be heard, and he has the right to fight on his lines until the organized Democracy has spoken, but when the organized Democracy has spoken, if he be a true Democrat, he must fall into line. I chance to know personally and well the Republican as well as the Democratic candidate for Governor of New York. My personal relations are kind with both of them, but if I were a citizen of New York I should take the stump for Hill, believing as I do that it is the duty of every true Democrat in that State to support him as the choice of the organized Democracy of the State."

UP THE MIDLAND.

The Suit Against the Roscoe-Rockland Water Co. The Fish Hatchery—Better Times—Beardsley, the Murderer, to Plead Insanity.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—The case of Sipple against the Roscoe-Rockland Water Co. was begun, Wednesday, and after some evidence had been taken was adjourned until Oct. 31st. George H. Carpenter, of Liberty, is counsel for Sipple, and W. F. O'Neill, of your city, for the Water Company.

—It is now proposed to catch the large trout in Underhill's private fish pond and strip them to get a supply of eggs to start the new hatchery with. It looks now as if the hatchery would go limping for some years to come. It would be better for the taxpayers of the State if there was a man on the Commission who could tell a sucker from a trout.

—The defense in the case of Beardsley, who shot Pomeroy, will be insanity. There isn't a doubt that the man is daft, and it is a wonder that he had not shot some of his tormentors before he did. It will be shown at the trial that some of his neighbors took great delight in annoying him whenever they had a chance to do so. Beardsley was a timid sort of a man and put up with their pranks longer than many another would have done. I asked one of his lawyers if there was a woman in the case and he said that story was false in every particular, without any foundation to rest upon whatever.

—There is a general improvement to be seen in all kinds of business up this way. The stone business holds on better and later in the season, than for several years past. The acid factories are all running on full time, but at lower wages for the men. Farmers are getting fair prices for their butter and other produce. The panic is over and no great damage is done after all. RUSTICUS.

MOUNT SALEM, N. J.

Colds and Aches—Delayed With Farm Work—Farmers Dissatisfied With the Greed of Apple Buyers—A Dwelling House Burned Locked in the School House—Other Notes.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Westfall left, last week, for their home at Auburn.

—Many are complaining of colds and "a general aching all over," with chilliness and other symptoms of fever, but are all righ in a few days.

—Last week's rainy weather put the farmers back with their husking, but we think Indian summer is yet to come.

—Much dissatisfaction is felt among the farmers who sold their apples at a dollar and quarter a barrel. The packers who were sent to press and head the barrels picked out the very finest and largest fruit and left the medium sized for the farmer to dispose of as best he could. In several instances farmers sent them away in the midst of their packing, while some stopped them as soon as they saw what their scheme was, and some, though dissatisfied, let them go on in their own way. It seems the farmers have nothing to say in regard to the selling of their farm produce. The prices are all made by those who know nothing of the work and expense of raising these things. Then the cheek of sending men around to cull and select the very finest fruit; I hope the time is past when the farmer must sell the best in order to live; he should keep the choicest for his own use.

—The house near Mudtown, occupied by Ira Clark and owned by James Cassedy, of Coleville, was consumed by fire early Saturday morning, Oct. 20th. The fire, it is thought, originated from a defective flue. Mr. Clark being away not much furniture was saved. The house was formerly owned by the late Ira D. Heffman. Mr. Cassedy will rebuild as soon as arrangements can be made.

—Tramps are beginning to seek for warmer quarters as the cold weather comes on. One broke a sash and crawled in the school house a few nights ago, after asking and getting his supper from Mr. Van Inwegen, who lives near the school house. No one knew of his visit till next morning after he had made good his escape.

—Miss Bertie Courtright, of Middletown, has been spending a week with her father, Mr. Bowdswine Courtright, near Mt. Salem.

—The good people of this place met and cleaned the parsonage for the minister and his family, who arrived last week. They gave him and his family a reception by having a nice supper ready upon their arrival.

—The country hereabouts is full of hunters and game is said to be quite plentiful.

—The country never looked more beautiful than at present with its autumn coloring.

Reward for Dynamite Fiends.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct 30.—The county commissioners offer a reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of the men who blew up the Hungarian shanty with dynamite on Saturday. The detectives have them under surveillance now.

Japanese Surround Port Arthur.

Ex-Mayor John J. S. McCroskerry, the staunchest Cleveland man in the First Assembly District, who is now heart and soul for Senator Hill, will preside at the great meeting in the Academy of Music, to-morrow night, at which Senator Hill will speak.

Voters on election day will be handed sixteen ballots by the ballot clerk. There is, however, no reason why a multiplicity of ballots should confuse the voter. Select the ticket headed David B. Hill for Governor, and the constitutional convention ballots labeled "against." Vote these and return the other ballots. In this way you will be sure to vote the Democratic ticket and against the Republican apportionment.

The Scranton Times says that the new policy of unrestricted production was adopted by the coal companies because experience had demonstrated that the attempt to regulate the output by agreement between the companies was a failure, several companies, notably the Lackawanna and Pennsylvania, refusing to confine themselves to the output allotted them. Under the new plan each company is to mine and market all the coal it can without cutting under the price fixed by the allied companies. It is almost certain, however, that companies which find that they are not selling what they regard as their share of the coal that is going on the market will begin to cut prices. That this is the view taken of the situation by investors is shown by the sharp decline in the prices of the stocks of all the great coal carrying roads.

The ARGUS has been asked what truth there is in the Republican explanation that the surplus of $198,000,000, left by the Cleveland administration, was used in refunding the direct tax paid by the States during the war. Well, there is mighty little truth in it. The direct tax refunded by act of Congress amounted to only $15,700,000, New York's share, larger than that of any other State, being only $2,213,330. About the time the direct tax was repaid to the several States, Secretary Foster covered into the general fund of the treasury the special fund for the redemption of national bank notes, which had never before been reckoned as an available asset of the treasury and which amounted to about $10 000,000. Taking this transaction into account, the net payment by the treasury on account of the direct tax was only $5,000,000,—a very small part of the $198,000,000 surplus squandered during Republican rule.

The proposition, as embodied in the apportionment clause in the revised Constitution, namely, that representation in the Senate and Assembly shall be based upon measure of land instead of upon measure of population, is at war with the sentiment underlying American institutions, is a blow at manhood suffrage, is, stripped of its disguise, a scheme to overthrow "government of the people, by the people, for the people" in this Empire State. Because of attempted taxation without representation, the colonists took up arms and waded through rivers of blood to the liberties, the equalities, which they bequeathed us. Have men forgotten this that they are expected to endorse at the ballot box that which their forefathers fought against with bayonets?—laid down their lives in combating? The lesson of Bunker Hill, of Lexington, of Valley Forge and Yorktown, cannot but be lost to the voter who puts his seal of approbation upon this attempt to rob the populous centres of the State of their due representation in its law making branches.

SEVEN PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH

Perished in a Fire in a New York Tenement House.

BY UNITED PRESS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—Seven persons were burned to death, at 3:30 o'clock, this morning, in a fire in the five story tenement, 216 West Thirty-second street.

There were in all some forty persons in the tenement at the time the fire was discovered, and prompt action by the police in giving the alarm alone saved many from death.

The flames spread with marvelous rapidity from cellar to roof. The fire escape on the front of the building was soon jammed with people, exit by stairs having been cut off. The firemen were promptly at the scene and they shouted to people not to jump. Nearly all were taken down from the fire escape in safety,

Lena Freedman jumped from the second story rear window and sustained injuries which will probably result in death.

The correct list of the dead is: George Freedman, 4 years old; L. Freedman, 3; Annie Applegate, 22; Lena Mitchell, 24; Margaret Mitchell, 70; Jacob Killan, 40; George Leavy, 20.

The origin of the fire is not known. The flames were quickly extinguished. The loss on the building is only $300.

The dead were all evidently suffocated while the slept.

When the fire was extinguished exploration of the house revealed the two Friedmen children dead, side by side, in their little bed. Not a hair of their heads had been singed. In fact none of the bodies had been touched by the flames.

My little son Lemuel, was left with a gathering in his head and a large swelling on one side of his neck, which caused his head to be drawn over towards one shoulder. This continued for some time, and all we could do and all the doctor's medicine we could give him, were of no use. CHILDREN'S CLOTHING WITHOUT PROFIT.

That's exactly it. Children's clothing without profit. We shall revolutionize the trade of Orange county in children's clothing. So many people think that a boy in knickerbockers should be dressed for little or nothing, that they often indulge in such suits, much to the detriment of the child's appearance, and their own disgust. Besides this, we have a pride in seeing the boys well dressed, and we have a name and reputation for clothing young men, but with these knickerbocker boys that's hard to get, for there are so many competitors; why, even the dry goods stores sell 'em now-a-days. But we're bound to have the boy's trade; and, hereafter, we shall sell all our knickerbocker clothing without profit, at just cost. All our stock has been re-marked in plain figures, at exactly what it was billed to us by the manufacturers. Is not that an inducement sufficient to bring your boys to us? Remember, boys clothing without profit!

Mighty interesting reading the recent report of a State Dairy and Food Commissioner! The mask of deception is torn from so many articles posing as pure!

For instance, one brand of Beef, Iron and Wine made by a manufacturer, who labels it with the local druggist's name if desired, was a concoction of Alcohol, water and Iron flavored, BUT CONTAINING NO BEEF. Some of that stuff has been offered to the dealers in this city. Who bought it? Beware of Beef, Iron and Wine sold for less than good materials would cost. All Beef, Iron and Wine sold by us, and bearing our label, is made in our Laboratory from fine Imported Sherry Wine, Citrate Iron and pure Extract Beef. IT CONTAINS NO SALICYLIC ACID! It is useful in debility and acceptable to a delicate stomach. Its formula is open to any reputable physician.

Another fraud was Cod Liver Oil adulterated with Cotton Seed Oil! What do you think of that for a sick person. Much of the stuff called "Emulsion" is nothing but Cod Liver Oil converted into Soft Soap by adding alkalies, made by some large manufacturer, who puts the retail druggist's name on it. Our Cod Liver Oil whether in Emulsion or as clear oil, is guaranteed finest Norwegian Cod Liver Oil—absolutely pure. It is worth your while to remember this. Our Emulsion Cod Liver Oil is made in our own Laboratory, so our claims for it are facts based on knowledge.

KILLED BY FALLING FROM A WAGON

A Broken Neck Causes the Death of Mrs. Mary A. Gabbey, of Phillipsburgh—Her Husband Killed in the Same Way at Almost the Same Place—Stories of the Accident—An Inquest to Be Held.

About 7 o'clock, on the evening of December 5th, 1888, nearly six years ago, Mr. John B. Hulse, while driving into Mechanictown, found the dead body of John F. Gabbey lying under a wagon seat along the road, his horse and wagon standing near by. An investigation showed that the unfortunate man's neck was broken and that death must have been instantaneous.

Last night, between 5 and 6 o'clock, as nearly as can be ascertained, Mrs. Mary A. Gabbey, John Gabbey's widow, fell from a wagon a few hundred yards from the spot where Mr. Gabbey died, and she, too, broke her neck, dying within a few moments after the fall.

Mrs Gabbey lived with her daughter and son-in-law, Harry Nadin, at Phillipsburgh, in the second house from the Goshen road on the road to Crystal Run. Mr. Nadin is employed in William Holden's glove factory at Mechanictown, and it was the custom of Mrs. Gabbey or her daughter to go after him with a horse and wagon almost every evening.

Mrs. Nadin, with a party of friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Holden, went to New York, yesterday, on the O. and W. excursion. During the morning, Nadin and a fellow workman, named Chas. McIntosh, who also resides at Phillipsburgh, below L. Bauer's hotel, had several glasses of of beer at Bellinger's hotel, across the road from the factory.

In the afternoon, they quit work and rode to Middletown on the electric cars, returning about 5 o'clock to Bellinger's hotel. They had both been drinking and, according to several witnesses, were both considerably under the influence of liquor. They were in the hotel when Mrs. Gabbey came for them and they got into the wagon with her and started for home.

Mrs. Gabbey sat on the left hand side of the seat, Mr. McIntosh on the right and Mr. Nadin, who drove the horse, in the middle. The horse was going at a fair rate of speed, and when it had gone down the short hill just this side of the residence of Mr. Thomas Marsh, Mrs. Gabbey fell out of the wagon. Just how she fell or the cause of her fall, the occupants of the vehicle are unable to state.

Mr. Marsh heard the talking on the road and came out of the house in time to assist the men in placing Mrs. Gabbey in the back part of the spindle wagon. She was taken to her home and Dr. Nelson, of this city, was summoned. The unfortunate woman was dead when the physician arrived. An examination showed that she had received a slight scalp wound and that she had sustained a fracture of the second cervical vertebra.

Coroner Decker was summoned, this morning, and after listening to the several versions of the accident, determined that an inquest was necessary, as several very conflicting stories were told, some of which pointed to extreme carelessness upon the part of the driver of the horse. A jury was therefore empannelled and the inquest was set down for 5 o'clock this evening.

Deceased was a daughter of William and Sarah Van Tyle and was born at Greenville, in December, 1851, and was therefore forty-three years of age. She is survived by one brother, Samuel Van Tyle, of Bethel, Sullivan county, and one daughter, Jennie, the wife of Harry Nadin.

The funeral will be held from her late residence, Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Rev. David Evens will conduct the services and the interment will be in Phillipsburgh Cemetery.

Mrs. Gabbey was insured in the Prudential Insurance Company for $184.

LAST NIGHT'S REPUBLICAN MEETING

A Large Attendance, but a Disappointing Speech—Officer Wood Obeys Orders and Offends a Number of Good Republicans.

The Republican meeting at the Casino, last evening, was a success in point of numbers, but a disappointment in all other respects, for the speaker, Col. Alexander S. Bacon, of Brooklyn, failed to interest or please his audience, and many left the hall as soon as they realized that there was nothing in the speaker's words or manner worth staying to hear.

Mayor Stansbury, who, though not the head of a family himself, has very correct ideas as to the way in which boys should be brought up, and who did not propose to have the minds of the youth of the city contaminated by pernicious doctrine, had detailed Officer Wood, with orders to keep all boys out of the Casino. "Woodie" obeyed orders to the letter and turned back a score or so of men who, accompanied by their sons, sought to enter the building. He roused such a tempest of wrath in the breasts of those whom he deprived of a feast of Bacon, that several of them were heard to declare that if Republicanism in Middletown meant such arbitrary interference with individual rights and liberty, they'd be teetotally blessed if they ever again voted the Republican ticket. They talked as if they meant what they said and it looks as if Officer Wood at the door lost the Republican party more votes than Col. Bacon made for it on the stage.

The meeting was run on "high-toned" lines throughout. Mayor Stansbury escorted the speaker to the stage. Supervisor C. J. Boyd was named as chairman, and a long list of vice presidents was read. The men whose names were on the list were in waiting behind the scenes, and when the list had been read filed solemnly out and took seats on the stage. Chairman Boyd made a speech and introduced Col. Bacon, who received more applause before he opened his mouth than at any time during the evening.

Col. Bacon's voice was not strong enough to fill the hall and those in the rear seats had much difficulty in hearing him. He was very much in earnest and seemed to believe what he said, even the preposterous statement that Democrats levied tribute on vice and crime in the cities to get money with which to buy the votes of Republican farmers. The speech aroused no enthusiasm, and though a few of our friends, the enemy, insist, to-day, that it was a good address, most of them frankly admit that as a vote-getter and vote-keeper it was a flat failure.

The Human Electrical Forces:

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organ itself instead of the cause of the trouble. The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his efforts.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

GROWN WEARY.

"These two-year-olds will make me gray,"
The handicapper said,
"They keep me guessing every day.
I wish that I was dead.
I think I've picked a winner sure,
Then see him disappear.
The very best one runs so poor
He lands up in the rear.

"Bellicoso wins a stake.
I swear that he is good.
The Bank of England he would break
To flinders if he could.
Then Lassak scores a pretty win.
I plunge on him next time,
Then realize I've lost my tin
And haven't got a dime.

"Rey del Carreras shows so well
He catches all my cash.
I plunge on him—sad tale to tell!
How could I be so rash?
He doubles up just like a knife
When half way to the wire.
I say, 'What is there left in life?'
And curse him in my ire.

"Then comes along Margrane's Frank K—
A rank outsider he—
And wins in quite an easy way,
And that's what's broken me.
Why don't these colts run twice alike?
Can any man explain
Just when and where they're going to 'strike,'
And so relieve my brain?"

WHO WAS ALICIA?

Young Mrs. Waterhouse finished the writing of a dutiful letter to her mother.

The letter assured the anxious old lady that the writer was quite happy; that there was really no necessity for worry, and that mamma might make herself quite content at Biarritz. Geoffrey was the best of husbands, and although, of course, much engaged at South Kensington with his fearfully abtruse experiments and his new book on steel fibers he was extremely attentive and kind. And she was, with much love, mamma's affectionate daughter, Helen Waterhouse.

"Mamma won't believe it," said young Mrs. Waterhouse, with a kind of comic despair. "She is always wanting to know about the skeleton. Thank goodness there isn't one!"

On the clean blotting pad was an impress of some of her husband's writing. A palette shaped mirror stood on the table, and half unconsciously she turned the pad toward it.

"Wonder to whom he has been writing?"

It was quite easy to see. Mrs. Waterhouse glanced at it casually at first, then, her face fiercely pink, with much attention:

"I want you, my dearest, to believe that I am quite true to you. I am bound by certain ties to others, but to you, my sweetheart, my own dearest Alicia"—

"Alicia!" cried Mrs. Waterhouse aloud as she panted and sat back in her chair. "Alicia! Alicia who, I wonder?"

She knew his writing so well that she could scarce be deceived on that point. The whole thing in a moment was clear. Her dear mother, with a less cramped experience of the world, had been right, after all.

"There is a skeleton," said the trembling Mrs. Waterhouse. She tore her letter to Biarritz into many pieces. As the last fragment went into the ferns in the fireplace she felt a kiss upon her neck.

"Don't do that, please," she cried.

"Beg pardon," said her husband. "Did I frighten you?"

He took off his hat and adjusted his pincenez. His coolness almost took her breath away.

"I must say, Geoffrey," she declared, "that I can't help admiring your—your cheek.'

"My love, I admire yours. I meant to have kissed it just now."

She took up a newspaper, and twisting it violently in her excitement made an endeavor to speak with calmness.

"I have been reading rather an interesting fragment, Geoffrey. Shall I tell you what it is?"

"Quote away."

Mrs. Waterhouse recited from the coign of vantage furnished by a rug the letter to Alicia. The professor dropped his glasses and looked intensely disturbed.

"Now, my dear love."

"Oh, no!" said Mrs. Waterhouse.

"My dear Helen then, will you allow me to say"—

"I only want to know one thing. Did you write this ridiculous stuff, please?"

"Why, yes. I'm not going to deny that. Of course it's only a part of the letter to the girl, but if you like I can tell you what happens afterward."

"I don't want to know. If this gets known, what will be thought of you? You will be the laughing stock of all your colleagues."

"That's very true," acknowledged Professor Waterhouse, with concern. "That's very true, and it must never get known. I can't drop the affair now, unfortunately, but, you know"—he smiled at his wife a little anxiously—"there really is no harm in it, and I'm not the only man who"—

"Really?" in a tone of remote and frigid interest.

"I frankly admit, though, that I should be very sorry for it to get known. Of course it seems to you a very foolish thing to do."

"By no means."

"But I really don't believe that I could have endured the strain of writing that new work of mine if at the same time I had not"—

"Let me ask you one more question, please. I understand, Geoffrey, that you are sorry now that you ever lent yourself to such a—such a despicable business."

"That's not quite the point, dear." He was recovering now his usual composure. "That's not what I'm sorry for. I'm sorry to be found out. I wanted to keep it quiet. But there's no earthly reason why anybody but ourselves should know. After all every man has his hobby."

"Geoffrey, I won't listen to you."

"Well, my dear, I can't force you to, can I? I believe if you would only let me tell you the whole affair from beginning to end you wouldn't be so much annoyed about it. It really isn't so bad as you think. Alicia is a most delightful girl, and it has been a recreation for me, you know, and I have been slogging away so of late, and"—

The door slammed. Mrs. Waterhouse went up stairs to her room and hurriedly, very hurriedly, packed a portmanteau. There was time to catch the mail at Charing Cross, and she meant to get away to Biarritz, away from the stifling atmosphere of this house, away from London. She rang for her maid.

"Parker."

"Yes, ma'am."

"The mail goes at 8 from Charing Cross, I think?"

"It used to go at 8, ma'am," said Parker cautiously. "When we went away, if you remember"—

"Yes, yes, of course. I want you to pack a bag for yourself, and we will catch the mail tonight."

"Catch the mail, ma'am, tonight?"

"Yes, yes. Lose no time, please, and send out for a cab."

"Well, I never!" murmured Parker.

Mrs. Waterhouse had some intention of having one fine, big, square scene with her husband before she left, but there was little time to spare. Moreover, it occurred to her that she could be quite as bitter in a well composed letter to be dispatched from Biarritz as in a hasty interview.

"Come along, Parker," she called.

"It's all very well to say come along," muttered Parker discontentedly, "but this is a rum sort of a game, and I don't 'alf cotton to it."

"We've got 20 minutes. Tell the man to drive carefully, but to drive very fast."

The most galling thing about the whole deplorable affair was the certainty that her mother would meet her at the station with an I-told-you-so-my-poor-lamb expression. Still there was no one else to whom she could go, and at any rate she could always control mamma. She always had done so.

Charing Cross.

"The mail, lidy?" said the porter civilly. "The mail goes at ite fifteen. It's later'n it use to be."

"Parker, will you get some papers? Get one or two for yourself, you know."

Parker, still rather inclined to be cross, went to the bookstall. It half restored the excellent maid to complacent submission to what she termed all this ramping about to find the new number of "The Lady's Own Chatterbox" on sale. It was her own particular favorite journal.

"We'll get in now, Parker," said Mrs. Waterhouse. "There's 20 minutes to wait, but we may as well take our seats. Seconds, please, porter."

They found comfortable corner seats. For awhile they watched the stout, perspiring ladies and the slim daughters and the pet dogs. The usually demure Parker sniggered so much when she saw two Frenchmen kiss each other that she dropped "The Lady's Own Chatterbox." Mrs. Waterhouse took it up and held it in her hand.

"I must read," she whispered to herself. "I must do something to keep myself from thinking. I shall faint if I don't divert my thoughts."

The "Lady's Own Chatterbox" lay on her lap. She put one small foot against the seat opposite and leaned forward to get the steady glare of the electric light on the page.

"Any more going on?" cried the inspector on the platform aggressively.

"We commence this week a story by a new writer, Walter House, entitled 'Alicia's Only Love.' It will be replete with romantic interest, and, in short, a wonderful picture of high class life of the present day, with all its faults and foibles."

"Now, then," cried the inspector on the platform in an aggrieved tone to a belated passenger, "are you going on there, or are you not going on?"

Mrs. Waterhouse began to read. Chapter 1 was headed, "The Countess."

Alicia was half leaning, half reclining on an ottoman reading a delicately scented letter from Sir Harold de Beer. It opened thus: "I want you, my dearest, to believe that I am quite true to you. I am bound by certain ties to others, but to you, my sweetheart, my own darling Alicia"—

"Parker!" screamed Mrs. Waterhouse, with a gasp of delight. "Come out quickly."

"Right away," shouted the inspector. "Stand away there, please."

"Here, stop!" cried Mrs. Waterhouse.

She caught up her skirts and jumped nimbly out. An active porter seized her bags, and as the train was moving caught the descending Parker neatly and swung her round upon her feet.

"'Ow's that, umpire?" asked the porter.

"O—u—t, out!" said the inspector. He turned his hand lamp to Mrs. Waterhouse. "Hope you're all right, ma'am?"

"Thank you, yes," said Mrs. Waterhouse breathlessly. "I'm all right now."

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

MY Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess.

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find no one until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy and secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

Unexpected.

It was the first time Mr. Dismal Dawson had ever been met at the door by a woman in bloomers, and it rattled him a bit.

"Lady," said he, "you see before you the wreck of a man who was at one time as much of a gentleman as yourself."—Cincinnati Tribune.

No Use For Carlyle.

Scene—Book counter in department store; bargains in standard works; two overdressed, pasty faced damsels lingering carelessly to examine titles.

"Did you ever read this?" said one, picking up a 19 cent copy of "Sartor Resartus." "Mr. Smith says it's splendid."

The other took the little volume rather gingerly, glanced for a moment into its solidly printed pages, and with a contemptuous "Excuse me!" tossed it across the counter.

The vulgar intonation of that "Excuse me!" and its flippant application to so ponderous a work were amusing, to say the least.—Art In Advertising.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

A MEAN TRICK.

The Pathetic Dilemma of a Man Who Was Deceived.

He stood at the corner of Woodward and Michigan avenues the other day when the wind came down off Lake St. Clair with a cold edge to it. He was leaning on a little rattan cane until it described a half circle under the pressure. He had on an ethereal looking white straw hat and a light summer suit, and his general appearance was fairly hit off by a newsboy when he cried out:

"All you fellers come on and see a gumdrop walkin around on his hind legs!"

The gumdrop shivered as he posed. It was fall overcoat weather, and he was clad for 100 degrees in the shade.

"Very embarrassing to be caught up this way, doncher knaw!" he explained to the onlookers in a weary way. "It's all the fault of the signal office, doncher see? Predicted a hot wave, be Gawge, and it failed to materialize. Came down from me suburban domicile prepared for a sultry day, and, bless me heart, if I haven't nearly perished with cold, ye knaw!"

"See him shiver!" called a gamin.

"Shivah! Of course I shivah!" replied the weary man as he indulged in a shake. "I am no volcano that I shouldn't shivah under this sudden change. Bless me, but I'll see the people in the signal office and give 'em a bit of me mind for this! Nevah depended on their predictions befoh and never will again, doncher knaw!"

"Here's your high pressure in the Mississippi valley!" shouted another boy.

"That's another point I wish to touch on, ye knaw," replied the gumdrop. "What do I knaw about high pressure, low pressure, increased cloudiness, storm centers and all that? I see by the report that it is to be warmer, doncher knaw—much warmer—and accordingly I prepare for the change. In the language of the Greek, I am kyfoshed—which means that I am left—boxed up—put in a hole, doncher knaw!"

He shivered again—a first class, high toned shiver, such as a nabob might be proud of—and continued:

"When a fellah has his collah and tie and trousers and hat to look out for, his mind is fully occupied, doncher see? He cawn't be poking his nose into the newspaper and increasing his burdens by trying to understand what the signal officer means by the Ohio valley, low pressure, high pressure, humidity and all that. I wouldn't think of it, you see—no fellah would think of it. It is all owing to the ambiguity of the signal officer that I have been kyfoshed—done up—laid on the shelf, doncher knaw!"

"Play us a chune wid yer teeth!" screamed a chunk of a bootblack.

"The ideah of deceiving a fellah like this!" continued the victim as the wind swept down Monroe avenue and raised another crop of goose pimples on his legs. "I think I shall sue for damages, doncher see? I shall no doubt be prostrated by this exposure, be Gawge! And it's a question whether my system will recovah from the shock. If I don't, I may go off in a week, doncher knaw! And if it does I may lingah along for years, you see—lingah along such a shattered wreck that no tailor can ever fit me trowsers again, ye knaw!"

"There goes another shiver!" called two or three boys in chorus as the thin clad form was again agitated.

"Certainly I shivah," he replied. "I was waiting here to see a friend who might lend me an overcoat, ye knaw, but he's been switched off, the same as this hot wave. Me play is to proceed homeward with all possible dispatch and to imbibe some gin and watah, and then write to the papahs that the signal bureau is a delusion, doncher knaw! Be Gawge! I'll quite break up the business befoh I let go, doncher see?"

And he lifted his little cane off the ground and floated up Woodward avenue like a man who would never rest until he had the signal officer's scalp at his belt. —Detroit Free Press.

This Advanced Age.

"Wonderful, ain't it?"

The old man with the drab bowknot on the front end of his chin stood by the First Presbyterian church and gazed at the McCarthy building, which is nearing completion.

"Who'd ever thought that such things c'u'd come ter pass! Wood used ter be good enough fer us. Now they has ter use iron ter git up a house."

Then he went over and gazed up among the huge joists of iron. He wiped the frost from his bowknot and shook his head.

"Over thar at th' church they has ter wait till they dies afore they git ter heaven. Here," and he looked up again, "all they has ter do is ter take th' elevator."

Then he fell over a pile of bricks and waded through a pond of mortar in his endeavor to catch a trolley car.—Syracuse Post.

In the Dark.

For some years after the war the colored people of Fairmont, W. Va., had the services of white people as superintendents and teachers in their Sunday school. The illiteracy of the pupils made it necessary to begin with the rudiments of language instruction before much could be done in the way of Bib' study.

One day while the primary class stood before a large chart on which were printed words of one syllable the teacher pointed to the word it, and, slowly spelling i-t, it, asked the class to say it after him. One of the scholars, a man of perhaps 50, interrupting, said:

"Sah, I sees de i, and I sees de t, but I can't see de it."—Youth's Companion.

A Charming Romance.

He could not explain her indifference. Sometimes he thought she was trying to conceal the love she had for him, and sometimes he thought she hadn't any.

"You are heartless," he said to her one evening in the twilight shadows.

"Yes," she admitted, trembling, "some one has taken it away from me."

Upon this he rushed away and purchased a large and elegant engagement ring.—Detroit Free Press.

WHAT YOUR THUMB TELLS.

Square Type.

The thumb is an unfailing index of character. The Square Type indicates a strong will, great energy and firmness. Closely allied is the Spatulated Type, the thumb of those of advanced ideas and business ability. Both of these types belong to the busy man or woman; and Demorest's Family Magazine prepares especially for such persons a whole volume of new ideas, condensed in a small space, so that the record of the whole world's work for a month may be read in half an hour. The Conical Type indicates refinement, culture, and a love of music, poetry, and fiction. A person with this type of thumb will thoroughly enjoy the literary attractions of Demorest's Magazine. The Artistic Type indicates a love of beauty and art, which will find rare pleasure in the magnificent oil-picture of roses, 16½ x 24 inches, reproduced from the original painting by De Longpré, the most celebrated of living flower-painters, which will be given to every subscriber to Demorest's Magazine for 1895. The cost of this superb work of art was $350.00; and the reproduction cannot be distinguished from the original. Besides this, an exquisite oil or water-color picture is published in each number of the Magazine, and the articles are so profusely and superbly illustrated that the Magazine is, in reality, a portfolio of art works of the highest order. The Philosophic Type is the thumb of the thinker and inventor of ideas, who will be deeply interested in those developed monthly in Demorest's Magazine, in every one of its numerous departments which cover the entire artistic and scientific field, chronicling every fact, fancy, and fad of the day. Demorest's is simply a perfect Family Magazine, and was long ago crowned Queen of the Monthlies. Send in your subscription; it will cost only $2.00, and you will have a dozen Magazines in one. Address W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, Publisher, 15 East 14th Street, New York. Though not a fashion magazine, its perfect fashion pages, and its articles on family and domestic matters, will be of superior interest to those possessing the Feminine Type of Thumb, which indicates in its small size, slenderness, soft nail, and smooth, rounded tip, those traits which belong essentially to the gentler sex, every one of whom should subscribe to Demorest's Magazine. If you are unacquainted with its merits, send for a specimen copy (free), and you will admit that seeing these THUMBS has put you in the way of saving money by finding in one magazine everything to satisfy the literary wants of the whole family.

PROGRESS OF WORK ON THE GOSHEN LINE.

The Rock Cut to be Finished This Week The Construction Car May Run Into Goshen Monday—Confident That Cars Will Make Regular Trips by Nov. 15th.

Officers of the Traction Company are assured by the contractors that the rock cut on the Owen farm, the heaviest piece of work on the Goshen line, will be completed, this week, and the active manner in which the contractors are pushing work gives reason for believing that their expectations will be realized.

The grading of the rest of the line is all completed except a stretch of less than half a mile where the road follows the highway between Smith's corner and the Holbert place, and the track is laid almost as far as the grading is completed.

The trolley wire is stretched as far as Smith's corner and can be put up to the Goshen end of the line in a day.

If the rock cut is completed this week it is predicted that the construction car will be run into Goshen on Monday.

Considerable work remains to be done in Goshen after the route within the village limits has been definitely decided on but a large force will be put on the job and the Traction people are sanguine that cars will be running regularly between Goshen and Middletown by Nov. 15th.

OTISVILLE.

Senator Hill's Meeting—Harvest Home Services—Death of Mima Service-McGibbon—Brought Home for Burial—Death of Mrs McKeeby — Personal Mention.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—Many Democrats will go to Port Jervis, to morrow, to hear Senator Hill.

—Harvest home services were held, Sunday, in the M. E churches, of which Rev. Mr. Chadwick is pastor. Particular mention should be made of the decorations at the chapel at Westbrookville. The variety of vegetables, grain and flowers was evidence that the farmer had been blessed with abundant harvests. The exercises by the children were very interesting. The remarks by the pastor were not only comprehensive, but to the point. A number from here attended the services Mr. Carpenter addressed the congregation at the services of the Otisville M. E Church in the evening.

—Sad indeed were the hearts of all those who had assembled for worship in the Presbyterian Church, Sunday morning, when the pastor informed them of the death of Mrs. McGibbon, nee Mima Service, who died at her home in Cannonsville, N. Y., Friday evening, scarcely a year since she was here a bride. She was of an exceedingly quiet and unobtrusive disposition, doing whatever she could to help those around her. And when by the death of her mother, which occurred while her brother was pastor here, she was left with the care of her father's household, she nobly fulfilled the trust, taking up at the same time all the work that would naturally fall to a pastor's wife The sympathy of the church and many loving friends are with father, husband, brothers and sisters in their great sorrow. The funeral took place, Monday, at her residence in Cannonsville.

—The remains of Gilbert Ketcham, son of Herbert Ketcham, of Newburgh, were brought here Monday afternoon. Burial at New Vernon.

—Mrs. Dobbins and daughter, Bessie, of Chicago, are visiting Mrs. Charles Harding.

—Gilbert Dodge, who has been on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alsop Dodge, returned to his home in Denver on train 5, Monday evenevening. He returns very much improved in health.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reed, Mr. and Mrs Rockwell and Mrs. Harriet Beyea went to Monticello, Monday, as guests of Mr. John Tymerson.

—Mrs. Chadwick is quite sick at her home in this village, —Sorrow comes not singly. Our villagers have again been shocked by a telegram announcing the death of the wife of Dr. McKeeby in New York city. Her remains are to be brought here on train 15. this evening.

—Robert Palmer, George Smith, Oscar Horton, Sarah Horton, Addie Horton and Laura Evans attended the wedding of Frank Beebe, on Thursday evening, last. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. R. Queen.

COURT OF APPEALS DECISION.

Judgment Reversed in the Case of Beakes vs. Phœnix Insurance Company.

In the case of Henry L. Beakes vs. the Phœnix Insurance Company, the Court of Appeals has reversed the judgment for $1,100, in favor of Mr. Beakes. In the first case tried, against the Commercial Union Insurance Company, Mr. Beakes recovered a judgment of $100 only, the jury finding that the entire substantial damage was done by wind and not by lightning, as claimed by Mr. Beakes. In the second cases against the Phœnix Insurance Company, the jury went a little further, giving the plaintiff $1.100, although this was only about one-third of the admitted loss. Notwithstanding this was a practical success for the company, it did not feel satisfied to let the case rest without submitting the questions of law involved, to the court of last resort, which has just decided them in its favor.

The case was argued in the Court of Appeals by William Vanamee, Esq., for the company, and by William F. O'Neill, Esq., for Mr. Beakes.

Matthews & Co. Carpet Bag Factory.

THE REASON

Why we make up clothing to order at less money than any other tailor is:

1st—We buy our cloth direct from the commission houses in full pieces. All other tailors have to buy from the jobber, and thus pay a good profit to the jobber.

2d—We do all our own cutting, having no expense for a cutter, etc., etc.

3d—We have no expense to do our tailoring business, doing it in connection with our ready-made clothing business. Suits, Overcoats and Ulsters to order from $16.50. We guarantee a fit or we do not ask you to take the clothing.
